Richard,

I wanted to reach out again. I know the timing of things has been a little crazy. On my end i just needed to make sure i was doing right by the company ive been with for the last 5 years. I'm sure this is a hard thing to gage when je is back and forth with travel. I would still be interested in doing this if I was able to give a proper notice on my end. My position here is large and I'm responsible for 4 restarants that I would like to remain succesful in my absence. If this is something you think would be worth persuing then I'd love to talk more. If you think the timing wont work out I understand completely. Again i would be happy to commit at least 5 months from my start date if not more. I would also be happy to help to find a replacement and train this person if and when i would be moving on. Hope alls well and i hope to hear from you soon.

Thank you
Francis Derby

Richard,

Hope all your holidays went well. Ive just returned from traveling and im back in NYC. I have given a lot of thought to returning. I believe I can commit 5 months to start and we can review after month 3 or 4 and see if there will be a possiblity of my staying a bit longer given what happens in that time. WE can also discuss finding a replacement towards the end of my time there that i can train for the position. If we decide to go through I will need to give at least 4-6 weeks notice with my present job.

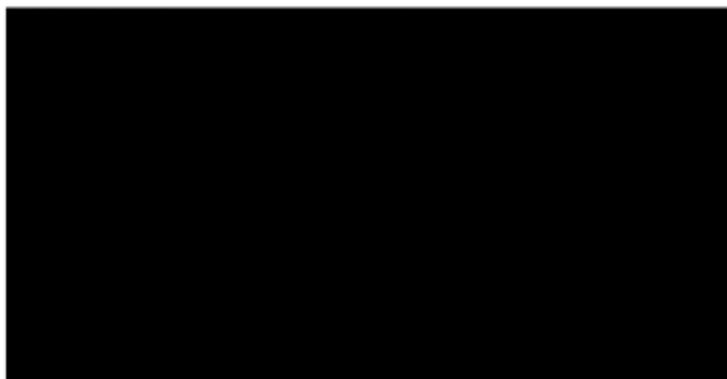

I'm happy to meet with you or je and discuss this further.

Thank you

Sorry for late response busy season has been consuming all my time. I still have a few things to work through in the next week to see to it that I can commit a reasonable amount of time to this. As we discussed I would not want to start something I can't see through to the end. I will have answer for you by early next week. I hope that is ok for you.

Thank you
